

The Arizona Sentinel.

INDEPENDENT IN ALL THINGS.

VOL. XI.

YUMA, ARIZONA. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28 1882.

NO. 43.

The Arizona Sentinel.

Published every Saturday by the Sentinel Publishing Company.

J. W. DORRINGTON,

MANAGER AND GENERAL BUSINESS AGENT.

Subscription:

One year.....$5.00
Six months.....3.00
Single copies.....12

Advertising:

One inch, first insertion.....$2.50
Each subsequent insertion.....1.25
Contracts by the year or quarter at reduced rates.

E. C. Dake, 65 Merchants' Exchange, is the sole agent of the SENTINEL in San Francisco. The SENTINEL can always be found on file in his office.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Howell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for in NEW YORK.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

TERRITORIAL.

Governor—F. A. Tritle, Prescott.
Secretary—H. M. VanArman, Prescott.
Treasurer—Thomas J. Butler, Prescott.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—M. H. Sherman, Prescott.
Auditor—E. P. Clark, Prescott.
Supreme Court—C. G. W. French, Chief Justice, Prescott. D. Forest Porter, Associate Justice, Phoenix. W. H. Stillwell, Associate Justice, Tucson.
U. S. District Attorney—E. B. Pomroy, Tucson.
U. S. Marshall—C. F. Dake, Prescott.
Delegate to Congress—Granville Gury Florence.

U. S. Commissioners—Wm. M. Dill, Prescott. A. Frank, Ehrenberg. David Brown, Yuma.

County Officers.
Treasurer—Fred Martin.
Probate Judge—Lester Levy.
County Clerk—A. T. Towner.

Under Sheriff—Walter Miller.
District Attorney—H. N. Alexander.
Recorder—C. H. Bailey.

Supervisors—Leo Furrer, Chas. Baker G. M. Thurlow.
Jerk Board of Supervisors—R. M. Knight, Coroner—J. H. Taggart.

Justices of the Peace—C. H. Brinley, Ira Mabbitt, W. H. Simmons. A. D. Crawford, Silent; M. R. Mallory, Ehrenberg.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

SIMMOND'S NABOB

PURE WHISKEY

HAS BEEN SOLD IN ALL THE eastern States and give universal satisfaction. It is highly recommended by the Faculty in all cases of Nervousness, Weakness, Debility, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Etc.

It is now introduced to the public of the Pacific Slope, endorsed by the eminent Dr. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, and Dr. H. C. Loderbach, of St. Louis, Mo., both gentlemen prominent in their profession, and which is a guarantee to all buyers of its purity and quality. I can show thousands of letters from persons from all parts of the Union and Canada to testify to its merits and the benefit it has afforded as a family remedy and tonic. Sold by all druggists and grocers by the case, bottle, or gallon.

CAUTION—None genuine unless labeled with my signature over the cork.

G. SIMMONDS, Sole Proprietor.

SISSON, CROCKER & CO., Agents for Yuma and vicinity.

DeCORSE & TACCART.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.
Office hours, 9 A. M. to 12 M., and 2 to 5 P. M.

Office, corner of Madison Avenue and First Street.

YUMA, ARIZONA.

G. M. KNIGHT.

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC.

Yuma, Arizona.

Recording Assessment Work.

An exchange says too little attention is paid to recording, in the County Clerk's office, the annual assessment labor on mining claims. If there were more recording done there would be less litigation. It is true that a "jumper" is required to show that full assessment has not been worked, but the record is also required to show that the work was not done according to law. The value of recording work, however, is more fully felt when a sale is about to be made. If the owner, or his agent, is abroad endeavoring to effect a sale and the title of the property is questioned, reference is at once made to the county records. If the work has been recorded, with other necessary documents, it shows care on the part of the owner. Official record of annual labor has saved many a man's property, and neglect of this duty has lost many valuable claims. There are a hundred and one reasons why every owner of a claim should have his work recorded, and no contracts for assessment work should be let without a clause providing for the affidavit and proof of record. To our readers in the States we call particular attention to this matter. The cost of record is trifling compared to its value. Bear this in mind, or you may some day regret it. As a class, our miners are thoroughly honest, but now and then a scoundrel comes up who will accept $500 in payment for $50 worth of work. If he is required to make an affidavit that he has complied with the law before receiving the money he will hesitate a long time before swearing falsely.

Buchupariba.

Stinging, smarting irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupariba $1. at druggists. Arizona Depot J. J. MACK, San Francisco, Cal.

The Farmer's Horse.

"I'll show you boys I've got no dollar boss," said Farmer Richard to the Cleveland horse-jockeys at the races. They made fun of the old man when he entered his horse in the 2:33 class, and thought he was a green one and no mistake. The horse had sand-burrs in his tail and had been christened St. Louis, as another evidence that he was slow. He started in and came near being distanced in the first heat. The old man thereupon got all the bets he wanted at a hundred to one. Then St. Louis was let out and came in away ahead in three straight heats. It was after the second heat Farmer Richard gave expression to the words at the beginning of this paragraph, I'll show the boys I've got no dollar boss! The "boys" were satisfied.

'Twas Ever Thus.

Four or five of us were enjoying our last pipe for the night in the smoking room at Craigfaloch. We had a long day's tramp over the moors, and the conversation lay chiefly between Winstanley and Charley Vane. These two had been at Oxbidge about the same time, and discovered that, though they had never met there, they had a lot of friends in common. Of course they began telling each other who had gone into the church, who into the civil service, who was dragging out life at an up-country station in India, who had got shot in South Africa, and who had made a fortune in colored yarns.

"Did you know Merton?" asked Winstanley.

"I think I have met him. Wasn't he a St. Bridget's man?"

"Yes; a tall, pale fellow, if you remember, with a straw colored hat and a delicate goateer beard that he never would shave off."

"Rather good family, eh?"
"Daresay. He was a very decent fellow, if he was a little straight-laced. A parson's now, of course. Did you ever hear of a visit he once got from 'a fine old English gentleman, all of the olden time?'"

"No, tell us the story."

"Well, Merton was really a very fine fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

"Very natural, very natural, I'm sure. I shall be delighted, Thomas. But, wait a moment, Agatha—"

"Will it look odd for me to be here, dear?"

"Oh, no; but, you see, if the old gentleman sees you here he'll be tempted to sit down and talk, and we shall lose all the morning. Here's the scout's closet. Run in, and I'll bring you a chair. I'll get rid of him as soon as I can."

"The fact is that Merton was so awfully afraid of being chaffed that he wouldn't have had it come to our ears on any account. He was a very good fellow, and a very good one. You understand? He had a very good family, and he was a very good one. One term, Millbank's eldest sister, a mature lady of some thirty summers, came down to stay with some friends near Oxbidge, and the day after her arrival, wishing to give her dear William a surprise, she ran over to see him early in the afternoon. Of course he got a cup of coffee for her and they were having a pleasant chat in the sitting room, when the scout comes in with a card, 'Edward Manderley.'

"The gentleman sends his compliments, sir, and hopes it will be convenient for you to see his rooms. He says, sir, when he was up here fifty years ago, and he has a great fancy to see them again."

engines has already made the best record in milling flour, ever made in California.

In the construction of Water Jacket Furnaces, which is a specialty of this establishment, a very large number of orders have recently been received by Messrs. Rankin & Brayton, among which are the following: a thirty-ton combination stamp and smelting plant for the Massachusetts and New Mexico Co., and a thirty-ton combination stamp and smelting plant for the Pacific Iron Works.

The rapid accumulation of orders has compelled Messrs. Rankin & Brayton to run their works night and day for some time past. The high reputation of this firm for honest, reliable work has enabled them to secure a preference on many orders. Buyers of mining machinery are assured of perfect satisfaction on all work entrusted to the Pacific Iron Works.

Silvery Men.

Wells, Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for Impotence, lemmes, sexual debility, &c. $1. at druggists. Arizona Depot, J. J. MACK, San Francisco, Cal.

He Wanted to Soar.

At Selma, Ala., says M. Quad the colored man who carried my "grip" to the depot wanted to know if any of his race up North held political offices, and when I mentioned one or two instances, he replied:

"Dar hain't no sort o' show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

"Dar hain't no show for us down heah no mo'."

"What to prevent you from running for office?"

NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS.

The Territorial and County taxes for the year 1882, are now due and payable at the Sheriff's Office, at the Court House, in the Village and County of Yuma, from 9 A. M. to 12 M., and 1 to 3 P. M. Taxes will be delinquent on and after MONDAY, DECEMBER 18th, At 6 o'clock, P. M. and unless paid before that time the usual 5 per cent and costs will be added.

A. TYNER, Tax Collector.

PATENTS

obtained, and all business in the U. S. Patent Office, or in the Courts attended to for MODERATE FEES.

We are opposite the U. S. Patent Office, engaged in PATENT BUSINESS EXCLUSIVELY, and can obtain patents in less time than those remote from Washington.

When model or drawing is sent we advise as to patentability free of charge; and we make NO CHARGE unless we OBTAIN PATENT.

We refer, here, to the Post Master, the Sup't. of the Money Order Div., and to officials of the U. S. Patent Office. For circular, advice, terms, and reference to actual clients in your own state or county, address

C. A. Snow & Co., Opposite Patent Office, Washington D. C.

Buy at dealers' prices. We will sell you any article for family or personal use, in any quantity, at wholesale price. No matter what you want, send for our Catalogue, free—contains over 1,900 illustrations. We carry in stock the largest variety of goods in the U. S.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO

227 & 229 Wabash Ave., CHICAGO, ILL.

PLANTS FOR GOLD AND SILVER. We have the most complete and most improved machinery for Smelting Furnaces for silver, lead and copper ores, with new and important improvements, superior to any other make. Hoisting Works, Pumping Machinery, Chloridizing Furnaces, etc. We offer our customers the best results of thirty years' experience in this special line of work, and are prepared to furnish the most approved character of mining and Reduction Machinery, superior in design and construction to that of any maker at the lowest possible prices. We also contract to deliver, in complete running order, Mills, Furnaces, Hoisting works, etc., in any of the Mining States and Territories. Estimates given on application. Send for illustrated circular.

PROBATE NOTICE.

In the Probate Court, of the County of Yuma, Territory of Arizona. In the matter of the Estate of George Angelo, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE undersigned, Administrator of the estate of George Angelo, deceased, to the creditors of and all persons having claims against George Angelo, deceased, to exhibit them with necessary vouchers, within ten months after the first publication of this notice, to the said administrator, at his residence in the Village of Yuma, Territory of Arizona.

GEO. M. THURLOW, Administrator of the Estate of George Angelo, deceased.

Deceased Yuma, A. T., March 4th, 1882.

DR. C. D. SALFIELD, 216 Kearny Street, San Francisco, Cal. Consultations strictly confidential, by letter or at office, FREE. For the convenience of patients, and in order to insure perfect secrecy, I have adopted a private address under which all packages are forwarded.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE—NOTICE!—I will send a trial bottle of the REVIVATOR—sufficient to show its merits—free of charge, to anyone afflicted, applying by letter, stating his symptoms and age. Communications are all strictly confidential. my 13-17

NOTICE.

Yuma City, Yuma County, A. T. TO LOUIS KOSTER—YOU ARE hereby notified that we have expended one hundred dollars in labor and improvements on the Copper River Claim, California Lode, in said county, one mile southeast from Gila City, and 17 miles from Yuma, Gila City district, in order to hold said premises, under the provisions of Section 2324, Revised Statutes of the United States, being the amount required to hold the same for the year ending 1883, and if within ninety days from the service of this notice you fail or refuse to contribute your proportion of such expenditure as a co-owner, your interest in said claim will become the property of the subscribers under said Section 2324.

C. HORNER, F. McBRIDE.

Sept. 1st, 1882.

Notice!

All creditors of the Estate of Leopold Furrer, deceased, will present their bills, and all those indebted to said estate will pay their indebtedness without delay to Samuel Purdy, Attorney for said estate.

FRANCISCO AVILA, Special Administrator.

TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE AND DINE cures instantly.